

THE EU INTEGRATED POLITICAL CRISIS RESPONSE ARRANGEMENTS

IPCR Working Level Roundtable – COVID-19

Operational Conclusions – 4 January 2023

- Member States, meeting in IPCR in the presence of the Schengen Associated Countries, agree on a coordinated precautionary approach in light of COVID-19 developments in China, especially considering the need for sufficient, reliable data and the easing of travel restrictions by China starting on 8 January 2023, along the lines set out below.
- IPCR, with the support of the ECDC and the EEAS, and taking into account WHO assessment, will continue to monitor the epidemiological situation in the EU and developments in China, including the level of data shared, with a view to ensuring EU coordination of any measures considered necessary.
- Member States agree to recommend to all passengers on flights to and from China to wear a medical mask, or FFP2/N95/KN95 respirators.
- Member States agree to issue advice to incoming and outgoing international travellers coming from or destined for China, as well as to aircraft and airport personnel, based on the Commission advice sheet, regarding personal hygiene and health measures.
- Member States are strongly encouraged to introduce, for all passengers departing from China to Member States, the requirement for a negative COVID-19 test taken not more than 48 hours prior to departure from China.
- Member States are encouraged to complement these measures with:
 - Random testing of passengers arriving from China on arrival in the Member States, as appropriate, and the sequencing of all positive results in order to strengthen surveillance of the epidemiological situation.
 - Testing and sequencing of wastewater from airports with international flights and aircraft arriving from China.
 - Continuing to promote vaccine sharing and the uptake of vaccines, including booster doses, particularly among vulnerable groups.
- The EEAS is invited to provide data and information on China at the next IPCR meeting.
- Member States agree to assess the situation and review the introduced measures by mid-January 2023.
